BET TYPES

- Single: A bet on the result of a single event.

Earnings in a single bet are equal to the sum of the bet multiplied by the ratio of the gain.

Simple or single bet is the simplest form of gambling: an event and its forecast.

Example: For this bet slip to be WON, event Erzgebirge Aue vs Hamburger SV must end as draw.

- Combination: The combination bet is one of the most used bet types. Here the Player combines several bets into one. The total fee is derived by multiplying the odds of the different bets. To win the bet you must hit all the results. Example: Juventus Turin – AS Roma: Home team to win (1), Tottenham Hotspur – Chelsea FC: Both teams to score (YES), Real Madrid – Getafe CF: Over/Under (over 2.5) - Total Fee:  $1.76 * 1.8 * 1.95 * \text{stake (1EUR)} = 6.18\text{EUR}$ .

As soon as you make more than one prediction of different sporting events (e.g. two different football games), you have the potential to generate a combination bet. The total quota is obtained by multiplying the odds of all individual forecasts. Please note that you will only get the gain of a combination bet if you hit all the predictions made.

- Types of Accumulation Bets: The vast majority of bets can be combined. Only some of them, such as certain Formula 1 bets, lack this ability and can only be closed as simple. The decision whether a prediction can be combined with other is taken by the bookie and depends inter alia on the relevant party or event. You will be told if this is so later in the time of closing the bet. Important note: bets belonging to the same event cannot play as often or as combined betting system.

- System bet: As opposed to single bets or combination bets that are either simply won or lost as a whole, each individual bet within the system bet is treated separately, so one system bet could eventually contain a mix of winning and losing bets. For system bets, sometimes the player can win less than the stake, and sometimes quite a bit more. The key difference between a system bet and multi-leg (accumulator) bet is that you can win a system bet even if not all of your picks are correct whereas an acca fails if one leg is lost. For example, a 2/3 system bet will be successful if you lose one of the legs. Example: If Tottenham Hotspur – Chelsea ends 1:1, Aston Villa – Arsenal ends 1:3 and Liverpool – Manchester City ends 3:3, bet slip is WON because the condition is satisfied, at least two of three matches are WON.

- Banker bet: Banker bet is a part of a system bet (like an accumulator, for example) that must succeed, otherwise the entire wager fails. Because of the importance of the banker bet succeeding, the bettor will usually choose their banker bet to be the bet within a system that they feel has the highest probability of success.

Example: In this bet slip Bankers are the matches selected in the box B, Hertha BSC vs Bayern Munich, Atalanta BC vs Torino FC and Olympique Marseille vs Paris Saint-Germain FC.

Which means those 3 events must be WON, and from the other 5 matches, at least 3 must be WON for this bet slip to be WON.

- Jackpot Bet: Jackpot bet will be shown and settled as regular bet, but placed on a fixed game where events are settled according to the result of the Fixture

RULES

- If the outcome of a market cannot be verified officially, it will be our concern to void any market to delay the settlement until official confirmation.
- If markets were offered when the outcome was already verified, it will be our concern to void any market.

- In the case of any obviously incorrectly displayed or calculated prices, it will be our concern to void any market.
- If coverage has to be abandoned and the match finishes regularly, all markets will be settled according to the final result. If the outcome of a market cannot be verified officially, it will be our concern to void any market.
- In the case of an incorrect settlement of markets, it will be our concern to correct them anytime.
- If a match does not adhere to the generally accepted format (e.g. unusual period length, counting procedure, format of a match etc.); it will be our concern to void any market.
- If the rules or format of a match differ from our accepted norm, it will be our concern to void any market.
- If a match is not completed or not played (e.g. through disqualification, interruption, withdrawal, changes in draws etc.), all not decided markets are considered void.

- European handicap is basically a 3-way bet, similar to a 1X2 match result bet. That is why it is also found as “Handicap” or “3-way handicap” on all sports and similar sidebet like 1st half market will be settled according to these rules. In any match with a significant difference in strength between the two teams, a handicap is placed on the outsider, in order to make it harder for the favorite to win the bet or the reverse with favourite. So far the function is the same with Asian Handicap. Here is the significant difference: the European Handicap (abbreviated as EH) is always an integer number, meaning it can be matched with a goal difference. Instead of placing an Asian Handicap of -1,5 goals or -0,25 goals, the European handicap is always of a -1, -2, -3 etc. kind.

As in Asian Handicap the main target is to get rid of the draw result (with a non-integer handicap you can actually win or lose the bet), the European Handicap actually has a “draw” result. Which is not, of course, the actual draw of the game, but the “equalizing” of the specific handicap set by the online bookmaker.

A very important thing, on our feed we apply ALWAYS the HANDICAP value (-1),(-2),(+1),(+2) on HOME TEAM.

European handicap bets usually appear like this:

Team A (-2) - Draw (-2) - Team B (-2)

What does this mean? Let’s take a closer look:

Team A (-2): If you back this option, you win when the team in question wins by three goals or more.

Draw (-2): In this case, you win if the match favorite wins by exactly two goals.

Team B (-2): The last option favors the outsider of the match. Your bet will be considered a winning one if your backed team either wins the match, gets a draw, or even loses by one goal.

- Player Props markets are available for AFL, EPL, English Championship, Bundesliga, La Liga, Italian Serie A, UEFA Champions League, Soccer World Cup, MLB, NBA, NFL and NRL leagues with these terms and conditions:

1. All Player Markets include overtime for bet resulting. Penalty shootouts are not included.

2. If any player selected for any bet type does not participate in game then all bets on that player shall be Voided.
3. If the match starts but is abandoned or suspended at any time before the match reaches a natural end and the match does not resume within 48 hours, then all undecided bets on that player shall be Voided.
4. All bets created prior to the venue change shall be Voided.
5. Bets on players where match is marked as postponed or cancelled in game state before the scheduled start time shall be left with pending status and resulted if the game starts within 48 hours of the original (global game time) scheduled start time. If game does not start within 48 hours, bets shall be Voided.

- If there is a Dead Heat, you will win part of your bet and lose part of your bet. A Dead Heat is calculated by dividing the stake proportionally between the number of winners in the event. So, in a two-way Dead Heat (2 winners) for example, your return will be half of what it could have been. Dead heat rules do not apply when the tie or draw is offered in the market. Effectively when you have a dead heat, one part of your bet is treated as a winner, and one part as a loser. If a three way dead-heat, one part (33.33%) would be a winner, and two parts (66.66%) would be losers.

Example with 3 winners:

- Customer A backs Cristiano Ronaldo for €10 at 1.8 to be Top Serie A Scorer
- Customer B backs Ciro Immobile for €20 at 3.0 to be Top Serie A Scorer
- Customer C backs Didier Drogba for €5 at 5.0 to be Top Serie A Scorer

In a three way dead heat the following returns would be expected:

- Customer A –  $(€10 / 3 = €3.33) * 1.8 = €6$  return
- Customer B –  $(€20 / 3 = €6.67) * 3.0 = €20$  return
- Customer C –  $(€5 / 3 = €1.67) * 5.0 = €8,3$  return

General

All match markets are based on the result at the end of the regular time. This includes any added injury or stoppage time but does not include extra time, time allocated for a penalty shootout or a golden goal.

Video Assistant Referee (VAR) will be taken into account. Decisions made after a significant event occurs, may result in confirmed bets being voided. Bets voided will be from the time of the significant event, until the time the final VAR decision was officially announced.

An exception is made when this rule relates to friendly matches. In such cases, all match markets are settled based on the actual result at the end of the game (excluding any extra time), irrespective of whether the full 90 minutes is played. This rule applies only to matches with regular playing time of two 45-minute halves.

Some Soccer matches may have different playing schedules. In that case the following will apply:

- 90 minutes scheduled play (3 x 30 minutes). Full-time bets are still considered valid. Halftime bets are considered void.
- 80 minutes scheduled play (2 x 40 minutes). All bets are still considered valid.

Should any match be played prior to the date or kick-off time denoted then bets will stand provided the wager is placed not later than the revised kick-off time.

All bets on a match abandoned before the completion of the regular time will be void unless the match is rearranged and played on the same date (local time) or stated otherwise in the rules, except for bets on any markets that have been unconditionally determined.

If the game does not take place as scheduled and is not played on the same date (local time) all bets are void. An exception is made if incorrect kick-off time is announced on our website.

If a match venue is changed then bets already placed will stand providing the home team is still designated as such. If the home and away team for a listed match are reversed then bets based on the original listing will be void.

In the absence of an official source, or when significant conflicting evidence is present, bets will be settled based on our own statistics.

23. Greyhound

General

- Bets are settled on the official result called by the judge and any subsequent amendments will be ignored for settlement purposes.
- Unless a show, early or ante post price is either offered or requested, all bets on greyhound racing will be settled at starting price returns. The starting price (SP) is the price available at the 'off' of a race. Where a 10Bet SP or an industry SP is returned, this will take precedence over any other declared SP and will be used to settle bets where a no show, early or ante post price is requested. Where no SP is returned and no show, early or ante post price is requested, settlement will be based on the final show of betting transmitted by SIS. Where no betting shows are transmitted, greyhound bets will be void.
- We cannot be held responsible for any errors or omissions in respect of accuracy in publishing or issuing of prices or information, despite every effort being made to ensure total accuracy. We reserve the right to correct these errors.

Each way

- Bets are accepted on win or each way. Using the each way checkbox will double the unit stake placed on the winner selection. It will contain one bet on the Winner and another bet on the Place. Terms will be written in the header of the event eg. E/W 1/4 1-2

Number of Runners Not Handicap race

2 - 4 Win Only

5 - 7 ¼ odds for Place 1, 2

8 1/5 odds for place 1, 2, 3

- The each way terms shown above are determined by the number of runners at the start of a race, not by when the bet was placed. If you place an each way bet for a race that is win only, the total stake will be invested in a win. For the purpose of settlement, each way doubles, trebles etc. are settled as two distinct bets, i.e. win on 'to win' and place on 'to place'.
- Each way bets are not accepted on unnamed favourites.

Dead Heats

- When a dead heat occurs for first place, the stake money on the winning selection will be divided by the number of winners, with full odds paid at the reduced stake. The remainder of the stake is lost. Where an each-way bet involves a dead heat winner, the win part of the bet will be settled as above, and the place part will be settled in full, in accordance with the relevant place terms. Should the dead heat involve placed selections and results in more than the allocated number of places, then the stakes will be divided as before, and settled to the full place terms.

Ante post/Outrights

- Standard Ante Post/Outright rules apply.

Show/Early Prices

- Show prices are the current prices on offer at the course during the period before a race. Early prices are special prices compiled by 10Bet and are usually offered up until 15 minutes before the off of a race. Prices are subject to fluctuation. If you want a bet at show/early price you must request it at the time of placing your bet.
- In the case of a non-runner, any bets at show prices or early prices will be settled at the starting price.

Re-Runs

- Where a race has been declared a no-race and is re-run, all bets will stand for the greyhounds that take part in the re-run. The prices returned on the re-run will govern the settlement. Show/Early prices will stand for a re-run unless there is a non-runner, in which case all bets will be settled at the SP. A re-run greyhound race is taken in the order in which it was originally placed in the program, irrespective of the time at which it was re-run. Where a race has been declared a no-race and is not re-run, all bets for that race will be made void and will not count for any additional race.
